

Recycling bank moved to pub

RECYCLING facilities in Felinheli have been moved.

Gwynedd Council officials hope moving the recycling banks to the car park of the Halfway House pub will be more convenient for residents.

Gwynedd councillor Sian Gwenllian said: "For years the banks were hidden away in a small car park in the middle of the village.

"More and more residents want to do their bit for the environment by recycling, and we are confident that this new location for the recycling banks will mean even more Felinheli residents will make use of the facility.

● Further details on the location of recycling banks in Gwynedd on 01286 679872.

Rob Parry with Youth Common (Above) Men's

Advertising Feature

NINE out of 10 kids are at risk of growing up with dangerous levels of fat in their bodies which could cause life threatening diseases like eat w longer Part o is the which